You May Know the Name Lugar, But You Don't Know Jack. Jack Lugar, Indiana
2012 Congressional Candidate

A Great Moment in History

by Jack Lugar

This is a great moment in history for the state of Indiana and the Greater Indianapolis area. Over the next couple weeks our home will be the focus of not only the rest of the United States, but much of the world as we host Super Bowl XLVI. I am confident that we will succeed in showing both our visitors and those watching from around the world that Indianapolis is a world class city and Indiana is a world class state. By the end of the first week of February, more and more states and cities will want to emulate our great state.

Just like the Super Bowl will show that Indianapolis is an elite city, Mitch Daniels' Republican response to the President's State of the Union Address gave the rest of the country a glimpse of a true leader and some clarity on how our country can succeed by following true conservative values. ### Jack Lugar on Indiana Politics

Vote May 8, 2012

When Hoosiers in the 5th Congressional District hear the last name Lugar, the first name that usually comes to mind is U.S. Senator Richard Lugar, but in this case the candidate's first name is Jack. The attorney and former Hollywood television writer is running for the seat currently held by incumbent Congressman Dan Burton.

Lugar said the nation didn't have a revenue problem, but a spending

Daniels' speech clearly established that we need a pro-growth approach, to always err on the side of the private sector, a simpler tax system with fewer loopholes and lower rates, a pause in mindless regulations, and a clear plan to maximize new domestic energy resources and technologies.

There are many things about Indiana that make me proud that I was born and raised a Hoosier. Top notch leadership is just one of them. A forward thinking community that has the strength and resources to host major events such as the Super Bowl is another. However, it is the people that makes Indiana most special; people who appreciate community and know what Hoosier hospitality truly means. It's that spirit that needs to be taken to Washington. We need leadership in Congress that cares more about the people and less about political rhetoric, the next election, and partisan politics.

When I am elected, I will serve the people of Indiana by staying active in the community so that I will continue to be aware of the real needs faced by Hoosiers. It's time for a changing of the guard and for a new generation of leaders to replace the stable of career politicians that continue to push this great nation further into debt.

I believe that Indiana is the greatest state, and I look forward to that being shared on the national and international stage of the Super Bowl. And once all the dust has settled in a couple weeks, it will be my desire to demonstrate why true conservative Hoosier values can also return this country to prosperity.

based on the money raised by those who support a candidate. The goal of my campaign is to be fiscally responsible while getting the word out about Jack Lugar for Congress.

Indiana has spoken and wants a new Representative. Hoosiers don't want a Representative who is disconnected and lives in the Washington D.C. area, but rather a Congressman who is an everyday Hoosier who is active in the community and wants to limit big government.

Your contribution will help bring real American values to Congress. It is time to remove the politician from Congress and bring someone who is committed to living in Indiana and representing Indiana. As you know I will commute to Washington while my family continues to live in the 5th Congressional District. The only way to really represent Indiana is to actually be involved in the community.

Let's take the politics out of Congress and vote for the only non-politician in the race - Jack Lugar.

Thank you for your contribution. More importantly, thank you for your vote.

Steal This Post

I'm not afraid of my work being stolen. Why? Not because it won't happen, but because it will and there's not much anyone can do about it. Sure we can sue, but who's really going to benefit from that? You're right... the lawyers. And what group most often benefits from new legislation? You're right again. The lawyers. And that's what SOPA (Stop Online Piracy Act) and PIPA (Protect IP Act) would open the door to - lawyers benefiting from more nebulous, poorly written legislation.

Rising above the Status Quo

Indiana 5th District desires something new, and as a candidate, I stand apart because of my small business experience, knowledge as an Attorney, and the fact that I am an everyday American.

Jack Lugar: A Tribute to my Grandmother

My goal in Congress will be to work hard to represent Indiana to act as my grandmother urged with "foresight, and courage, and persistence against apathy and misfortune." As a result, I will work to cut regulations, create jobs, and stop the overspending. Also, I will look to the next generation and raise up new leaders and ensure that Indiana has a strong voice in Washington D.C.

Jack Lugar on Returning our Country to Prosperity

I believe the way to win our future back is to do it together, and be on the ground and meeting with voters. I want to look you in the eye, shake your hand, and hear your concerns and desires for Indiana and this country. Your willingness to help me in this endeavor will truly open the door and provide us a seat at the table in Washington.

Jack Lugar on Rebuilding Congress, 2012

It's time to rebuild the approval rating of Congress. With Congress already at a dismal 9% approval rating, it's no surprise that number most likely will not be going up considering the recent attention given to the loophole that essentially allows Congress to participate in insider trading.
